

It is the policy of Spurlite Limited to supply product and Sales that meet or exceed or customer's initial and continuing expectations of Quality. To this end the company has been structured to encompass all aspects of the company's activities including such areas as Sales, Purchasing, and Customer Service and allow continuous improvement in all areas of the business.

Here at Spurlite Limited we are committed to continued quality enhancement for existing as well as newly developed products and services.

Our primary requirements for quality are as follows:-

- Compliance with standards.
- Meeting customer requirements.
- Enhancing the reliability of products and services.
- Training staff of the quality requirements.
- Testing supplier's product and services.
- Improving internal procedures.

The company is in the process of selecting an external quality control specialist to assist with its compliance with the ISO9000 standard and aims to apply for certification in the near future.
